

Shawl Evolution with Stephen West
at
FARMERS' Welsh Lavender

Monday 3rd August 2020
2 to 5pm

£65

Come knit, eat fabulous cake, make friends and frolic in the lavender fields at harvest time.

Join Stephen as he takes you on a shawl journey beginning with his very first triangular shawl pattern, Boneyard Shawl. You will experiment with stripes, short rows, and increases to transform your triangles into shapely shawl evolution. Ten years later, Stephen is still creating adventurous shawl shapes that transform from simple architectural forms into more complex splashy displays of colour.

There will be time in the last half of class to cast on your own shawl project. Bring yarn and your chosen Westknits shawl if you would like to cast on one of Stephen's shawl patterns.

Coffee, tea, cordials delicious cakes included

Please bring:

Needles

Five to ten leftover bits of colour to knit a little sampler shawl

Five to ten colours of fingering weight or DK weight (4 ply or 6 ply) wool to play with Mohair and alpaca yarns are encouraged to add some texture to your project. Bring wound yarn and a pattern to cast on during the end of class if you want to start a Westknits pattern.

Skill level:

Adventurous beginner to advanced knitter. Need to know how to knit and purl.

About FARMERS' Welsh lavender

Enjoy this workshop at the height of the lavender harvest high in the hills of mid Wales. See how lavender is grown and distilled. This lavender essential oil is a unique ingredient in FARMERS' luxurious creams and balms. FARMERS' products can be found in shops from Honk Kong International Airport to independent stores like Stephen and Penelope in Amsterdam to Hold in Brighton. FARMERS' HAND CREAM has an enthusiastic following amongst knitters who like their hands soft and supple.
